Metro South Health has a plan for better health care in Wynnum—including a significant boost to services and access to round the clock care for the community.

A new Integrated Health Care Centre

The current Wynnum Health Service has been a valuable asset to the community for 35 years, but it is nearing the end of its design life. That’s why we need a new centre—to better meet the needs of modern health care delivery, in a community setting and close to our patients’ homes.

The new Wynnum Integrated Health Care Centre will be a purpose built, state of the art facility that will not only secure existing services but also deliver additional services for the Wynnum-Manly community.

New services will include specialist suites, an expanded dental clinic, a mental health service, more allied health services and extended operating hours for BreastScreen.

24-hour primary care

We’ve listened to the community and as a direct response to your feedback, we’re reinstating a 24-hour primary care clinic in Wynnum. The clinic will deliver appropriate medical care for people with minor injuries and illnesses, providing a 24-hour safety net for the community.

The primary care clinic will be located at the existing Wynnum Health Service until it is relocated to the new Integrated Health Care Centre.

Maintaining health services

We’re committed to maintaining all existing health services in the local community, including the rehabilitation and palliative care services that are currently delivered at Wynnum Health Service. Our rehabilitation beds will move to a facility known as Casuarina Lodge, on the same site as the new Integrated Health Care Centre. And we’ll soon be consulting with the community about how to best deliver palliative care into the future.
